1986 Golddigger

We are marvelous

Marvelous

MARVELOUS. That's our theme. That's our school. That's our student body.

From the smooth and marvelous beginning of school, through the marvelous football season, to a marvelous new assembly schedule to new heights in academic achievements we showed our stuff and demonstrated just how marvelous — make that MAH-VALOUS, dahlings — we are.

We made new friends. We learned from new or different teachers. We got involved in clubs or sports. We pursued interests in plays, academics, personal or group activities.

We had a fine school year, not only because we looked and felt good, but also because WE ARE MARVELOUS!!!

Seniors at last

D.D. Abeyta
Troy Baker

Kari Anderson
Veronica Billinger

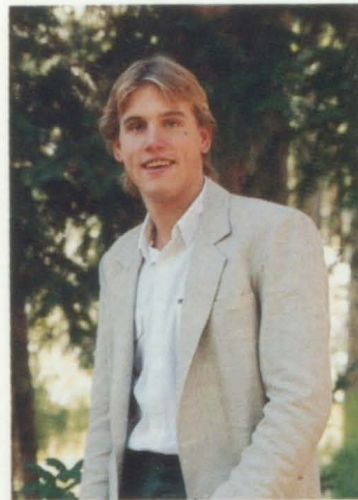

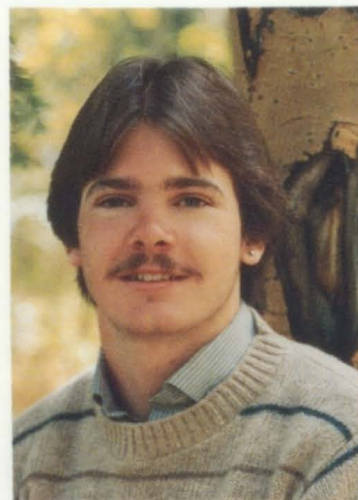

So here we are finally seniors. Does it feel any different from when we were freshmen? Remember walking down the halls as a sevie looking up to all the seniors? They always looked so grown up. But peering through the halls or watching Mr. Korth's Con. Ed. classes you would never have guessed these are the seniors of '86.

There is some reality to seniors though: just look at the grades in Mr. Dallas' English classes.

We all actually survived Mr. Warmack's government class. Some of us even lasted through I.S.S.

We've struggled through losses yet breezed through the easy times. Remember as a sevie trying to tell Mr. Klieforth that the snowball you just threw really did just fall out of the sky, barely missing him.

There were the usual cliques: the jocks, the cheerleaders, the freaks, the preppies, the punkers and the hicks. The only place we'll all be seen together is at graduation and here . . . your yearbook.

Senioritis

Senioritis strikes every year, and this year was no exception.

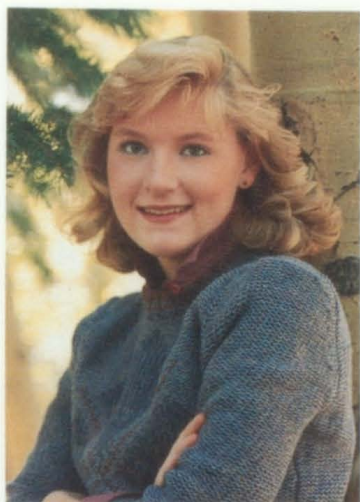

The disease is marked by senior pranks, free hours, color pictures in the yearbook and sarcastic comments concerning all non-seniors.

Dude Garcia

DUDE GARCIA has lived in Clear Creek County all his life. During the school year Dude works at the Breeze Restaurant and the Downieville Conoco.

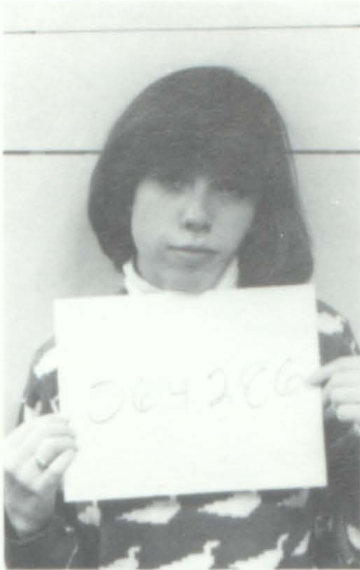

HE enjoys spending money on his '56 Chevy Stepside, '67 Ford XL and his pride and joy, an '82 Honda Silverwing.

DUDE also is a member of DECA. His future plans are to become a truck driver, collect vintage pickups and buy a new Honda Goldwing.

Below: Listening in Con. Ed. In the shop.
Bottom: Dude and the '56 Chevy.

Heidi Ilgen

HEIDI ILGEN is a member of DECA, the secretary of FBLA and a statistician for football.

Heidi has a part time job in Evergreen, working at a video rental store.

Her future plans include attending Ft. Lewis College and majoring in Accounting and Business Management. When she finishes college, Ilgen would enjoy working with a large company or owning one of her own.

ED SIMS

Like his brother Ned, ED SIMS works for a living — 25 hours a week at the local Safeway.

Ed's major past time is listening to his stereo, especially when it's blasting out the tunes of Pink Floyd and Dio.

Future plans for Ed are unclear, but also unlimited. Possibilities include continuing work, attending Northwest Colorado College or maybe flying.

"It's the same thing . . ."

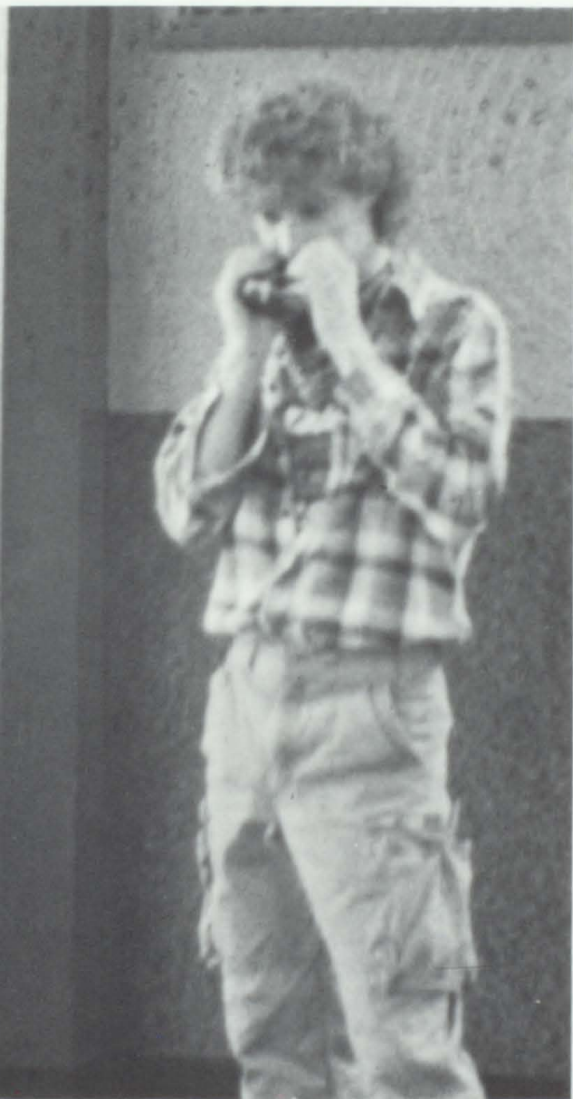

NED SIMS

NED SIMS has lived in Clear Creek for five years since moving here from Summit County.

Working at Georgetown Grocery 35 hours a week gives Ned lots of money to invest in his and his brother's $5,000 stereo. He enjoys jamming out to Van Halen and Aerosmith.

Ned has no definite plans for the future. Right now he's thinking the Postal Service might be for him.

Nearly 100 enthusiastic students made up the junior class of 1985. Many different classes were offered to help students become more aware of the future world and to broaden their horizons. Students took accounting, consumer education and marketing along with other business related classes. "The junior class won the sophomore and junior float competitions and spirit competitions," said president of the junior class Sharon Robinson.

Sophomores Grow

The days of middle school were behind the sophomore class and they spent the year thinking about the day when they too would graduate.

The sophomore class, consisting of nearly 100 marvelous students, had a very active year. We were involved in athletics and boasted many fine participants. We became much more involved in drama and music, showing our stuff and displaying our talents.

Special attention was paid to raising money. This was done by sponsoring dances, doing concessions and raffling off a Loveland Ski Pass during Homecoming.

It was a year spent growing and maturing and learning.

FRESHMEN ADJUST

The freshman class has heard the term "wake up, this year counts," many times in the past year. They've finally adjusted to the daily routine of going to classes and receiving grades for credits.

David Biddle
Todd Brinker

Despite being once again at the bottom of the totem pole, freshmen were grateful for both having a class name -Freshmen- and having moved on to high school.

New and positive things happened all year.

Sam Browd
Mellisa Brown

New students in the freshman class adjusted to the school and made many new friends.

Freshmen latched on to the latest in fashion. For example, they wore baggy shirts, flowered pants and brooches. Many freshmen got into these new fashions and enjoyed the contrasts of clothing, colors and decorations.

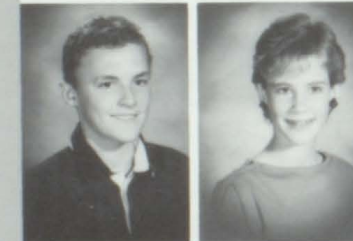

Wayne Buchanan
Limon Bushkowski

Ninth graders participated in basketball, football, track, ski team, volleyball and wrestling.

Freshmen responded to the "wake up" advice with an overall good year. Now it's one more step up the ladder.

"Well, it's better than seventh grade!" was how many eighth graders described their second year at CCSS.

After completing a year in the secondary school, this year's eighth graders tried much harder to fit in with the older students by talking with them and acting like them.

Eighth graders became more active in many aspects of student life, such as sports and student council. Trophies were brought home by both volleyball and basketball teams.

Up And Coming Sevies

Josh Branson
 Patty Brennan

At the beginning of the school year many sevies still seemed to long for recesses and their best friend to be sitting beside them. Most upperclassmen treated the seventh graders as if they weren't even there. Only the eighth graders seemed to notice or pay any attention to them.

Molly Brown
 Dean Canterbury

Eventually the sevies settled down to the task of learning how to go to high school. Changing classes, working harder, accepting more responsibilities and trying and learning new things was what this year was all about for the seventh graders. And they made it!

Homecoming

Homecoming began with a bang again this year. Mr. Bryant announced the spirit days for the week - Tropical/Clash, Rambo/Roman, Surpressed Desires, Punk Rock/50's, and Blue and Gold Day. Since he announced the themes on the Friday before Homecoming week, students had plenty of time to prepare. When Monday rolled around, were we ever ready. If we demonstrated school spirit at any time during the year, it was this week.

Thursday was Pep Rally Day, time for the announcement of the King, Queen, and attendents, the pie eating contest, and lots of yelling and screaming.

Finally Friday, the big day, arrived, and with it the parade, the powder puff football game, and the varsity football game. The parade consisted of floats built by each high school class, the Booster Club, and the cheerleaders; as well as fire trucks, police cars and the Marching Band.

Girls playing football? And we all thought football was a manly game. Well, not with our girls. Much to our surprise we discovered we have some good female gridders, the senior/sophomore girls winning 12-6.

Following the fun in the afternoon, the guys took over after dark, making short order of the Platte Canyon Huskies 20-6. The victory assured a very successful homecoming, as seen on the opposite page.

Far Right: VIKKI FEEMAN reveals her own individual tastes in clothing.

Among the trends sweeping CCSS were the Swatch watches, each having its own different design. There was also the "antique" jewelry, which included brooches, necklaces, earrings, and other types of jewelry. Some people wore trenchcoats. Styles from the 50's and 60's, such as the cropped and tapered pants, white canvas tennis shoes, and stirrup pants made a come back. Every style was different in its own way, with styles to fit everyone's individual taste. Some people chose a more casual look, while others chose a more extreme way of dressing. Hacky Sack and Skateboarding were also activities enjoyed by some students.

 Below: STEVE WING, La Fleche and CORY GRAHAM, Cleante, look at the small list of requirements.

The 1985 fall play, THE MISER, was a comedy written by Moliere. DAVID CAHILL starred in this classic, and fourteen other cast members played important parts in the presentation. Although none of these productions were sold out, The Miser attracted large audiences.

Director CINDY LOPEZ, assistant director GERRI BUSHKOVSKI, stage manager DANIELLE REIMER, and assistant stage manager, NOEL MCEUEN put the play together but the crew must not be overlooked! This large group of students made the set look spectacular to fit the 17th-century time period, promoted the play, put costumes together under MRS. SMITH, and organized the lighting on a professional level. The Miser made people laugh and made us realize what hard working students we have at CCSS!

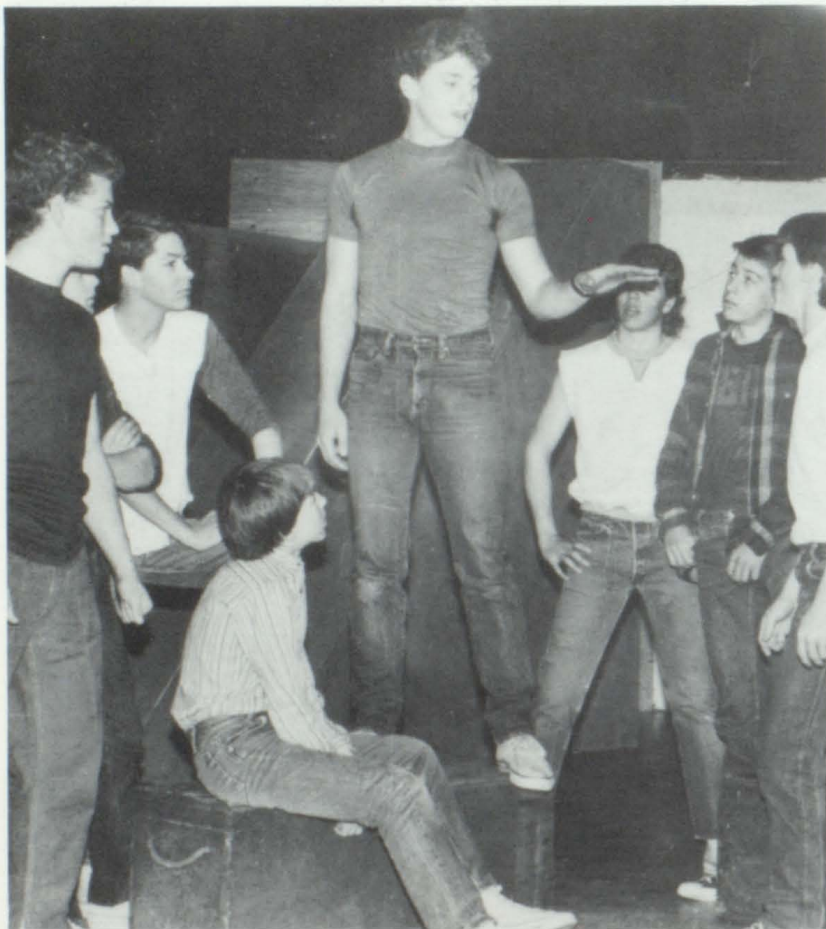

WEST SIDE STORY

Broadway came to the Tower Theatre in March. West Side Story was a huge success, with both Friday and Saturday performances being soldout. Wednesday and Thursday's turn outs were hampered only by the bad weather.

The Tower Players encountered problems such as: Small stage area for large cast, no backstage area, and the lighting wasn't located in the right place. These problems were over come and didn't effect the production any.

Personality conflicts were unavoidable with a cast so large. These students worked together for three months, but with Mrs. Lopez, as director, these conflicts were solved easily.

According to Mrs. Lopez. West Side Story was one of the most difficult productions the Tower Players had attempted, because the music was difficult and a lot of physical and mental skills were needed.

PROM

The 1986 prom theme, The Best of Times, describes the atmosphere of the prom to perfection. There was a good turn out of CCSS students plus the estimated third of attending guests who do not attend CCSS. The attitude by the attending people of the prom was positive, making the 1986 prom a memorable event.

The prom was held at the Elks Club which was decorated in pink, burgandy and white. The expenses included having a policeman present, the decorations and a $150 donation to the Elks Club. The chaperons were MR. KORTH, MR. RHODE, MRS. STRAUB and MRS. ROBINSON. SHARRON ROBINSON, the junior class president, said that the prom turned out exceptionally well but "only an average of ten junior students helped with the prom—and thanks to those people, the prom was made possible."

GRADUATION

THE CLASS OF '86

Above TROY BAKER and JOHN BRENNNA are very anxious as they wait to walk down the aisle. Left TODD CROSBY and WENDY MOORE walk out in style.

They Made It!!

For the graduation ceremony of 1986 a Marine Color Guard presented the colors and did the flag ceremony. The solutarian was KEVIN POHLE, and the valedictorian was CHRIS GOULD. MICHELLE DODGE gave the pledge of allegiance. There were five students who spoke at graduation who were part of the graduating class. These people were IVI SCHLANDT, TONY PLANK, NED SIMMS, ERIC ELLIOTT, and COURTNEY WISE. The senior class motto was "Goodbye Stranger". The class colors were blue and white, the class flower was the white rose, and the class song was "Let The Good Times Roll." This class has finally made it through all of their years of schooling and are now prepared to face the real world. We wish them well in whatever they decide to do with their futures.

WARREN TECH

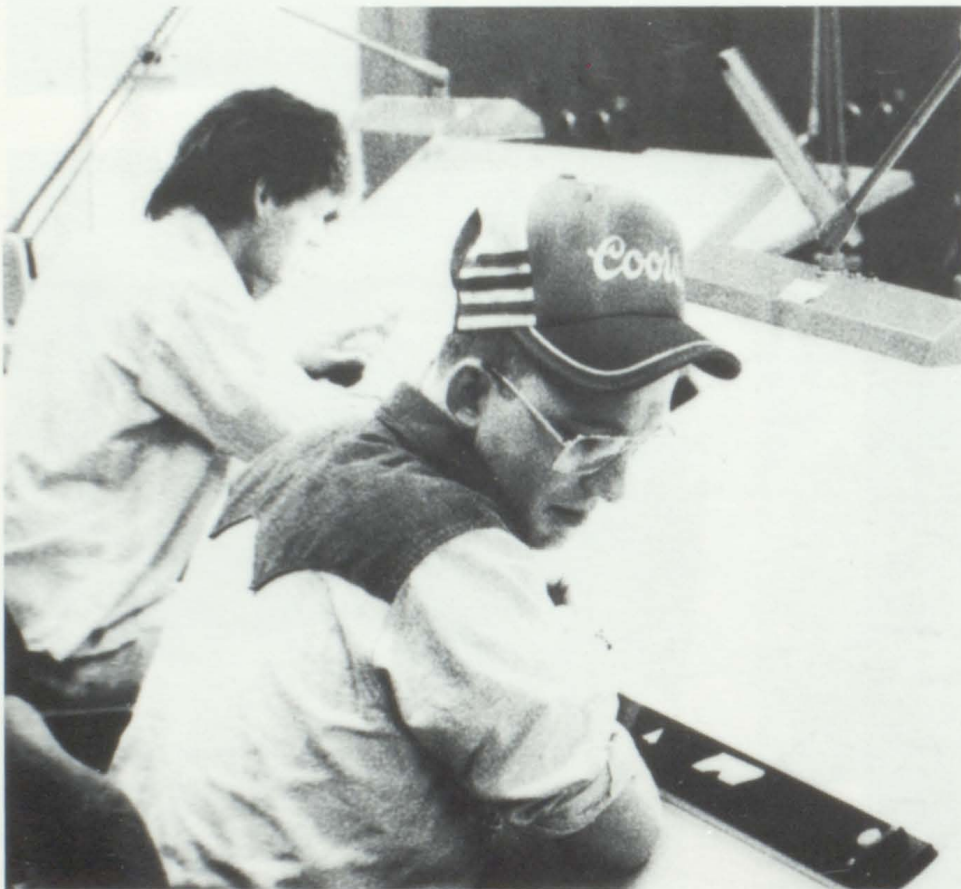

Students go to Warren Tech to learn a trade.

7:15 a.m. every morning the students bound for Warren Tech load into the bus. Most sleep on the hour long bus ride down there. They get back at 11:45. The Warren Techers have to work extremely hard because they have nine months to learn all there is to know about their future career.

Although not everyone chooses that trade as their career, everyone who attends classes at Warren Tech takes their classes seriously. Contrary to popular belief, students who attend Warren Tech do not attend classes only to receive easy credits. They choose Warren Tech as an alternative to college.

Foreign Exchange Students

One way to grow and learn new things is by visiting a foreign country. Another way to grow is by learning from people from different countries. The students at CCSS this year were treated to five foreign exchanged students. Throughout the year, five students, Roberto Tijerina, Tomoko Kanmuri, Yuichi Nishikawa, Pernilla (Pru) Cason, and Hans Eldberg were able to learn about our country and culture. And the student body and faculty were able to learn of theirs.

FBLA

The Future Business Leaders of America did many fundraisers this year. One of them was selling caramel candy bars. They were sold for $1.00 each or three for $2.00. This was a very popular thing to sell and proved to be very successful. FBLA had quite a few members. The only acting officer was Secretary HEIDI ILGEN. The attending members were DAWN PADGET, BRET JONES, JONNIE PIERSON, and JENNY RICKETTS.

Top: Eric Elliott, Donny Becker, Bret Jones, Mrs. Law (sponsor), Michelle Dodge Center: Angie Pennel, Sharon Robinson, Lisa Hammond Front: Dawn Padget, Jenny Ricketts, Heidi Ilgen, Jonnie Pierson

FHA

The Future Homemakers of America was a fairly large group. It had 14 members plus their sponsor MRS. JAN McBRIDE. The purpose of this group was to help the youth assume their roles in society through home economics education in the areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation and community involvement. They worked on projects to promote the awareness of the family. They have done some money raising activities, which included stationary, concessions, and selling little stuffed Easter bunnies.

DECA

The Distributive Education Clubs of America consisted of 22 members. The president was CARI LUCAS, Vice president was MARY RUTHERFORD, Secretary was DD ABEYTA, Treasurer MIA MONTOYA. MR. KORTH, DECA'S sponsor said that ED SIMMS and DUDE GARCIA were outstanding members because of their contributions to the club. One of their biggest fundraisers was the "Santa Grams", which raised around $100.00. DECA sponsored a successful canned food drive for Christmas. They attended some competitions as well, the district and state.

Student Senate

Student Senate has been involved in a variety of activities. All the homecoming activities and the Valentine Day dance were sponsored by this organization. Faculty of the month, an award given to a school employee to recognize their hard work was begun by the senate. For next year, a Metro League Dance was being planned in conjunction with Holy Family. Student Senate also funded S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) and helped plan a S.A.D.D. assembly that was held in May.

The new officers elected for second semester included: Meg Stiff, for president; Gerri Bushkowski, vice president; Aimee Vannier, treasurer; and Katie Stiff as secretary.

The Middle School Student Council worked on fund raisers all year. They sponsored six dances and a copper-silver drive. A food drive for the Senior Center was also sponsored by the Middle School. All the money that the Middle School earned was donated to the following organizations: Red Cross, Idaho Springs Senior Center, S.A.D.D. and Homeless Children Fund.

ECHO

Turning out issues of The Echo, while no easy task, came easy for this year's journalism class.

Mrs. Billie Bryant, this year's new advisor, along with her staff, slaved away many a Tuesday night battling the clock to meet deadlines and hand over the finished product to the Clear Creek Courant for printing.

Journalism students were everywhere, interviewing students, gathering sports statistics, taking pictures, looking for stories and generally keeping track of the news.

The end product many fine issues of The Echo, bolstered morale, served as a source of pride and proved to be a learning experience for this group. We thank them for their efforts.

GOLDDIGGER

Putting together a 132 page book proved to be much more of a challenge and job than most year-book students anticipated.

Planning the book, taking photographs, writing copy and captions, learning to do layouts (and making sure everything fit), selling ads and meeting deadlines was more than the rookie staff, advisor included, could handle and still meet their goal of a Spring book.

As layouts were completed and deadlines (sometimes) met, students gained knowledge and confidence while the quality of their work improved.

STUDENTS AFTER HOURS

Many CCSS students spend their spare time earning money. Although the majority of working students are at the high school level, there are a few middle schoolers earning money also. Many students take advantage of restaurant and local ski shops for money making opportunities. The Chart House, The R&D Ski Shop, Maison De Ski Shop, Safeway and Loveland are just a few of the many businesses open to the many willing, hard working students at CCSS. There are several reasons why people work but money is the main reason. Car expenses and money for social activities are just two of the areas where the money goes.

NHS

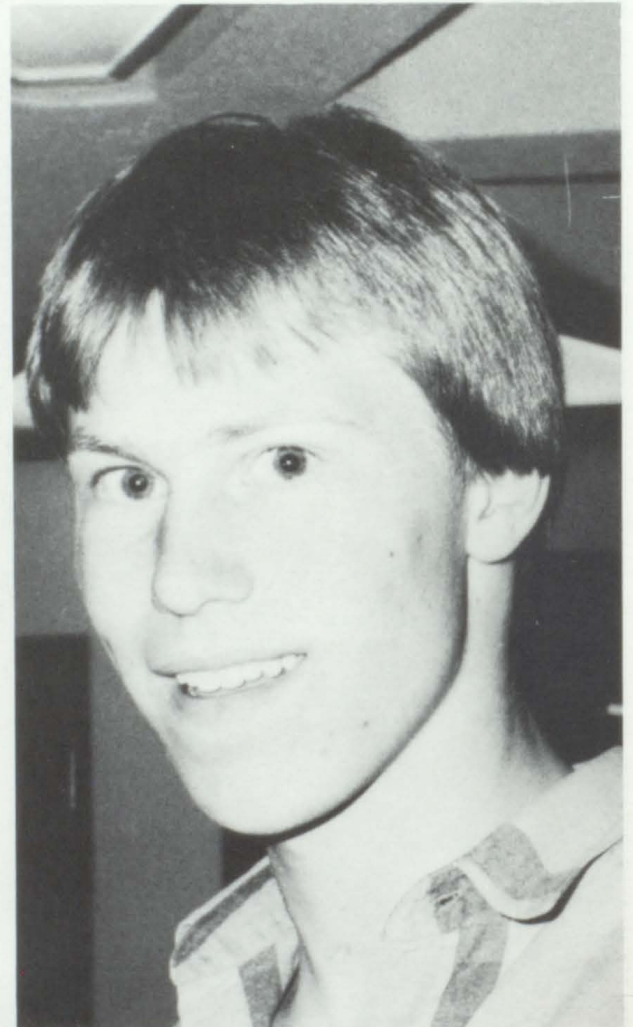

The National Honor Society is an organization that honors students with high grade point averages. This year 11 new members were admitted: GERRI BUSHKOVSKI, BRIAN CONROY, CORY GRAHAM, KATHY INMAN, TROY KENANEN, MATT LEIGHTON, JONNIE PIERSON, DANIELLE REIMER, DAVID TERRY and AIMEE VANNIER. This organization previously had 8 members. The National Honor Society grows as the years go on, this year with a total of 19 members.

OUTDOOR SEMINAR

Outdoor Seminar is a class taught by MR. DALLAS that enriches the minds of selected students. During the class, psychology and philosophy were discussed. Many activities were performed outdoors. The philosophy of this class is to accept death and concentrate on living. The activities allow individuals to learn about themselves and do activities that many people do not normally experience. Some of the activities included hiking, rappelling, snow shoeing, biking, and a communication trip to Denver. When asked which activity was most enjoyable, ERIC ELLIOTT, VICKI FEEMAN, and KEVIN POHLE enjoyed rappelling and MEG STIFF commented that biking over Berthoud Pass was most interesting.

Awards Night

Two hundred and fifty people attended the Clear Creek awards night May 12, to see 110 students receive awards. The awards given ranged from academics to drama to scholarships. Over 60,000 dollars in scholarships were given to the following people: Chris Gould, Michelle, Mylee Casperson, Jeff Lenardson, Lisa Hammond, Ryan Tofflemire, John Brenna, Kevin Phle, Brian Conroy, Blake Evans and Ed Sims.

Michelle Blicharz, Dawn Padget, Becky Scheurer, Nadine Flenar and Jamie Valdez received Art awards given out by Ms. Virginia Unseld.

Awards were also given out to Middle School students. A number of them received Math awards given by Mr. Kevin Rhode. Also there was a new Physical Science award given out by MR. JOHN HALLBERG.

The following people were admitted to the Honor Society at awards night: Kathie Inman, Danielle Reimer, David Terry, Brian Conroy, Susan Whiting, Cory Gramh and Aimee Vannier.

Staff

The support staff had another busy year with more changes. These changes include up-grading the fire alarm system, installing a new attendance computer system and working on a new schedule and grade-keeping program. Maggie Hutton is being trained to work on the scheduling problems that are now plaguing students. The grading program will provide parents with report cards faster than before. Mrs. Smith will be working with the new attendance computer which will make it harder for students to cut classes without being caught.

D.O.

The District Office underwent a major change this year with the addition of a new superintendent of Clear Creek. His main priority is to upgrade the entire school system in the academic areas. Next year he will focus on the math department. The following year will focus on a different department and so on, until every area has been helped. Cheerleaders

The Varsity cheerleaders this year were enthusiastic and filled with school spirit. These girls cheered for the fall and winter sports.

"The number of girls that cheered tried out because other girls do the plays and sports, so the girls that do cheer have a greater responsibility and they handle it well" said sponsor Mrs. Naylor.

The JV. cheerleaders practice hard and also are filled with school spirit.

Even though JV.'s had three different sponsors, Mrs. Abrahamson, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Chisem, they held up well.

The middle school cheerleaders try out in the spring and cheer in the fall of the 8th grade.

All the cheerleaders try to promote better relations in the conference and good sportsmanship between the players.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross country running demands greater overall physical conditioning than any other sport offered. Because of the pain that the runners go through, the sport requires amazing endurance and agility. This year the Varsity Football team made it to the play-offs, just like last year. But also like last year they lost their first game of the play-offs. They finished their season with a 7 and 3 record. This was considered a successful season.

This year the J.V. team finished the season with a 2 and 6 record.

With players like JOHN BRENNNA, CLAY STRAUB, and BRIAN INMAN leaving, some of the students are worried that the football team may not be as good, but that is also what they said last year. You can bet that the players will give it their best shot.

Middle School Football

M.S. Improves

The Middle School football team's success cannot be measured by looking at wins and losses.

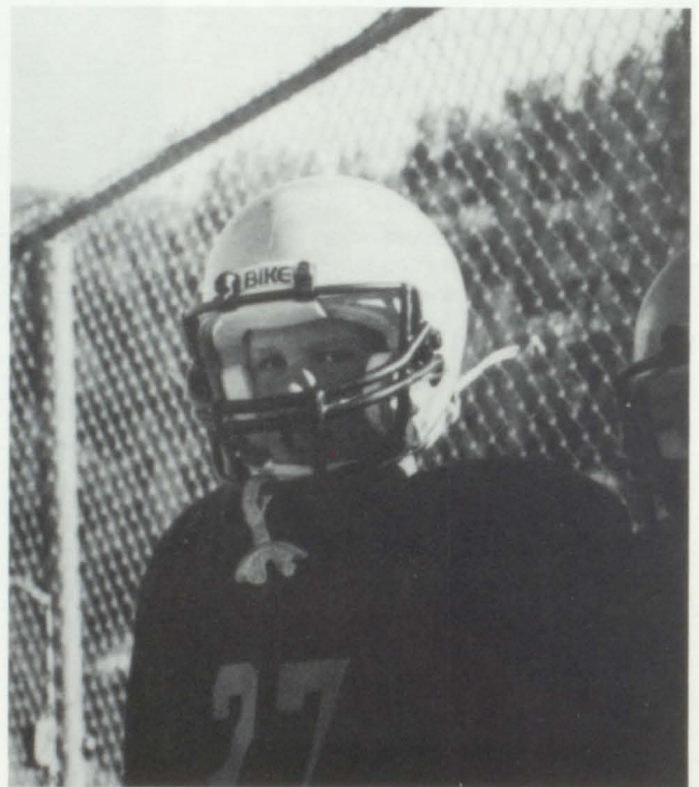

All the players are still growing, still learning the game, and most importantly, learning how to play as members of a team.

Under the direction of Mr. Bud Hutton and Mr. Bob Warmack, both teams gained valuable experience.

"Both these groups displayed great attitudes and tremendous participation," said Coach Warmack. The eighth graders worked hard all year, finally reaping the benefits with a victory in their last game. The Sevies started fast and finished the year with a highly successful 5-1 record.

The Coaches of this year's seventh and eighth grade volleyball teams had good things to say about their teams.

Mr. Dreith said the following about his seives: "Even though some teams play with an "A" and "B" team, our seives used the same players, trading starting jobs throughout the year."

The overall leaders of the team were Cindy Holmes, Erin Van Winkle and the morale leader, Molly Brown.

The team played well as a whole, but couldn't overcome their toughest opponent, Elizabeth. The coaches of next year's team will be getting "a great bunch of volleyball players from this year," said Coach Dreith.

"The eighth graders were very agressive and determined to excell and win their games. They believed in themselves and it showed in their agressive style of play," said Mrs. Ruckriegle, coach of the eighth graders.

The captains of the team were Jennifer Sent and Carrie Tilley. Mrs. Ruckreigle also mentioned that each player contributed in her own special way.

The eighth graders toughest opponents were Elizabeth, with Middle Park and Strausburg also giving them some trouble. The team played well together and continued to improve as the year went on. The improvement and agressive pla play payed off as they later beat both Middle Park and Elizabeth to bring home a trophy from the Elizabeth Tournament.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Both the boys and girls varsity basketball teams were made up of strong, enthusiastic ball players. Giving up was not an alternative for these 1985-1986 basketball teams. Some had doubts that the boys varsity team was going to have a good season but they proved they were capable of playing hard, determined games. With this team, MR. BENNETT was able to gain his 200th victory as the CCSS boys varsity basketball coach.

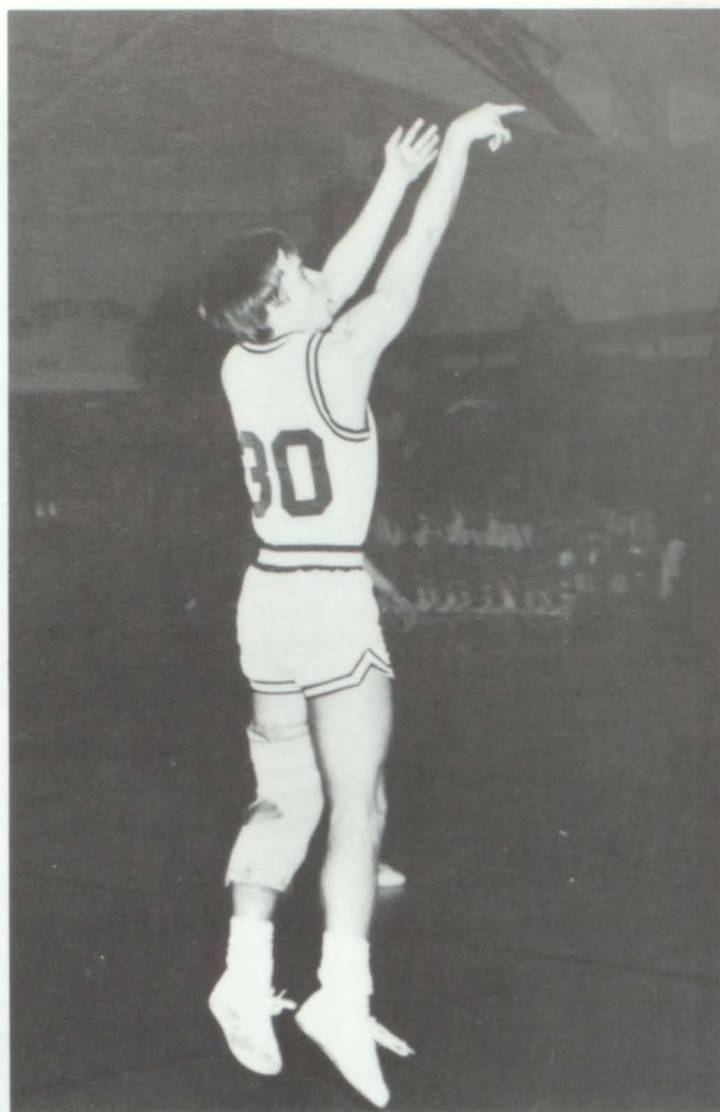

The girls varsity had some difficulties during the season but became stronger and more determined with each game. Eventually they reached the district playoffs and tried their best.

J.V. BASKETBALL

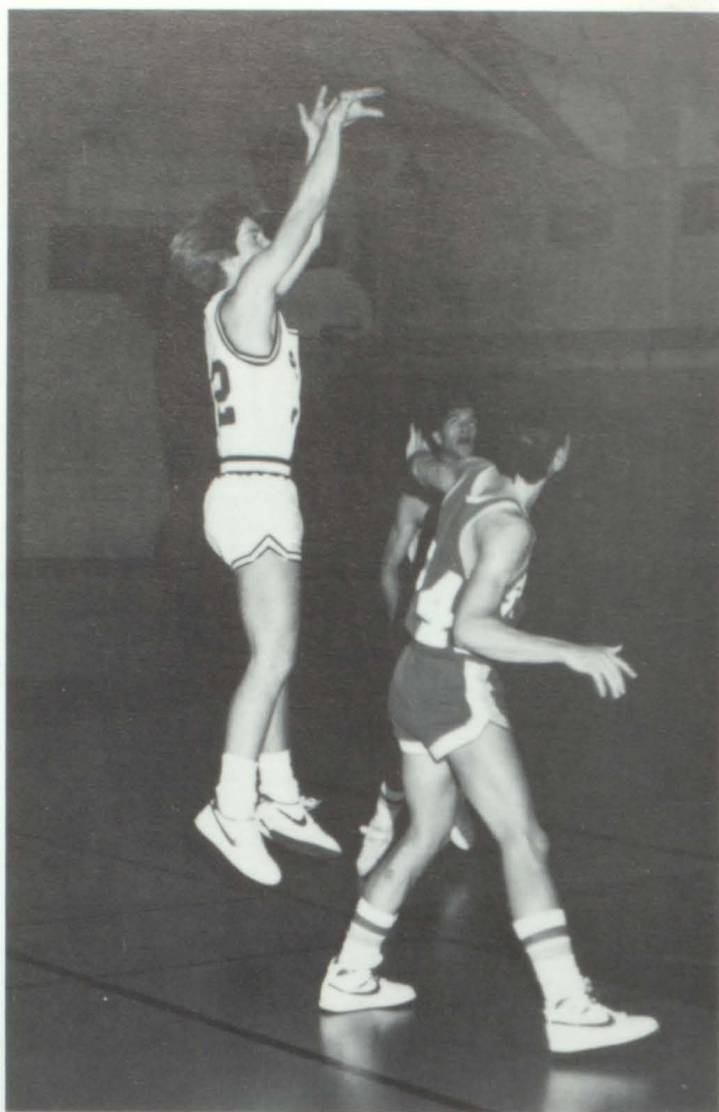

Both the boys and girls junior varsity basketball teams had a rough season but hung in until the end. The girls junior varsity coach, MR. CYPHERS, commented that KERRIE STOLPE and KIM ERIKSON were the two most improved players. When he was asked who the most valuable players were, he said "All of the girls were valuable, it's a team game and we needed everyone of those girls." MR. CYPHERS also added that this team showed a lot of class and pride.

The boys junior varsity suffered many injuries to their team members. GARY CLARK, MITCH FARRIS, and CHRIS TOMAN all suffered injuries but the rest of the team hung on and tried to gain victory over their opponents.

Sweeping the Gilpin County Tournament, with the eighth grade team taking first and the sevens taking second helped the Middle Schoolers to finish their season in fine fashion.

Despite enthusiasm and talent the boys' seventh, eighth and ninth grade teams kept coming up short. However, they never gave up. All teams showed plenty of spirit, according to their coaches.

The seventh graders were the most successful of the three teams, finishing with a 5 and 7 record. They took second in the Gilpin Tournament with Mike Robinson and Andy Phillips making the All-Tourney Team. Gabe Shrader and Shawn Gilley were named to the eighth grade All-Tourney Team.

Basketball/Girls

7th, 8th & 9th

The ninth graders played very well as a team, winning the majority of their games. The team's performance on offense and defense improved each game. The year as a whole was a very successful and positive experience, and as individuals improved the team grew stronger. The team had a few disappointments but they were able to learn from them and improve.

After a slow start, the eighth graders improved as the season drew to an end. According to Mrs. Otsuki, the highlight of the season was the 43-29 victory over Denver Christian who had beaten them one month earlier by 13 points. The girls worked hard and played together as a team. If they continue to dedicate themselves to basketball as they did this season, they will make significant contributions to future C.C.S.S. teams.

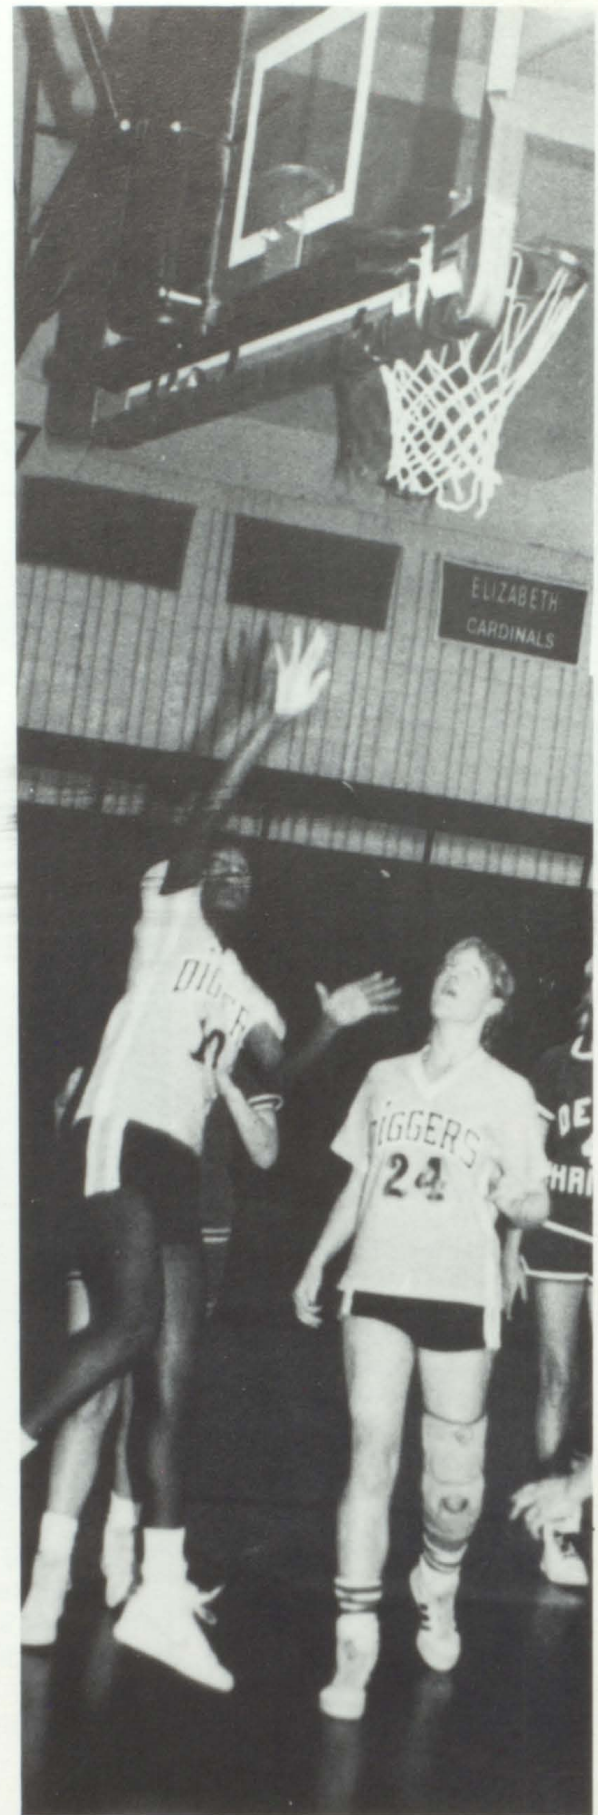

The seventh graders developed a sense of leadership and always gave 110%. Mr. Korth felt the team proved all season long that they could give come from behind and win. They always showed a never give-up attitude. Two major accomplishments for the team were learning the meaning of team work and, more importantly, the meaning of sportsmanship.

Alpine Ski Team Cross Country Team

Due to a team effort, the alpine ski team had their best year ever. Mr. Fredell said "This year's team had the best attitudes since I began coaching." All the skiers dedicated themselves to a team attitudes of winning. Clear Creek is finally a legitimate threat in the State High School Ski League.

This was the first C.C. team to sweep (four first places) at a ski meet. The success of the team this year was due to everyone's hard work.

Cross country ski practice started in early November, on the same Monday that brought us the most snow we were to get in Idaho Springs. This year the whole team started working on the new skating technique. The cross country team had help from the alpine team this year. BRANDEE WAGNER and AMBER KIDDER tried racing cross country at Vail, while BECKY SCHEURER, CHRISTY CLARK, JULI LEONARD, LISA CAMERON, MIKE RIOPELLE, JEFF LENORDSON and TIM GIBBS raced at Middle Park.

The most improved wrestlers were Matt Brown at 98 lbs, Randy Watts at 167, and Keith Hobbs at 105 lbs. The weight categories varied from 98 to 210. Next year's wrestlers from the J. V. team will know more what is likely to happen during a season such as attitudes, grades, and difficult diets.

M.S. H.S. Track

The High School track team had a successful year. All the hard work paid off and showed in the district meet. Thirty-one track members made it to the final events. Thirteen people scored points. And 35 Goldiggers achieved personal bests at the Districts. MR. HOWELL said, "The team could not continue to do better and not end up being the winner."

The Middle School track season was also successful. MR. FOWLER was impressed by the way the kids rose up to meet the competition of the Denver schools. The team improved with each meet because each member strived to reach their personal best. With their competitive attitudes, these middle schoolers will be asset to the high school team in the years to come.

Diggers Reach Playoffs

This year the Varsity Baseball team finished the year with a 11-4 record.

The outstanding players were pitcher CLAY STRAUB with a 4-1-1 pitching record, and a 2.94 E.R.A.; JEFF LENARDSON with a .475% batting average and .975 slugging %; and BRIAN SCHERER with a .378 batting average, and a .444 slugging %.

This year the outstanding J.V. Players that were Shane Ball Hitting .500 with 4 triples; and Shane Smith with a .400 batting average.

This was the first year that the team made it to the playoffs. In the first game against Burlington we won 12-2. But in the second game against Lamare we were overpowered and lost 9-1.

SHOP/ART

Many changes took place in shop this year, among them the addition of MR. MIKE CYPHERS to the faculty as the new woods teacher.

A new class, Technology, was taught by MR. BALDWIN and offered to seventh and eighth graders. Students studied how science applies to industry. Eighth graders had Technology for one semester and touched on the subjects of rockets, CO2 and race cars, along with the manufacturing and selling of a product. Seventh graders took Technology for six weeks, building rockets and making candle holders.

Taught by MS. UNSELD, Art was offered as an elective at every grade level. Everyone involved had the opportunity to expand his or her creativity and be exposed to a very universal language . . . Art.

MATH SCIENCE

The main goal of the Science Department this year was to have the students become more scientifically literate and more confident about problem solving.

The Advanced Biology curriculum was widened to include mammalogy, ecology and microbiology, making this class much more interesting. In all classes, the teachers stressed striving for excellence and never giving up.

This was an exciting year in Astronomy, taught by MR. TED DRIETH. Prime time viewing of Halley's Comet was made possible when Mr. Drieth set up a telescope for the entire school to use during the months of November through March.

The prime objective of the Math Department this year was not only to help students deal with everyday math problems, but also to prepare them for more advanced math classes.

Math wasn't all work this year. Students were encouraged to enter competitions such as the CSU Mathday, the National Math Exam, the Colorado Math Test, and MATHCOUNTS for seventh and eight graders. All the competitions are used as a springboard for students to develop their math potential to its fullest.

Math teachers also worked with elementary school teachers to improve continuity of curriculum for the grade schools to the secondary school, another step toward excellence.

Business

Business classes emphasize real world skills. According to Mrs. Law, her classes, typing and accounting, are important because after a student has successfully completed her course, that student is qualified for an entry level position in the real business world.

Typing and accounting are two very useful classes. Typing can be used as a skill on the job or in college to type term papers. Accounting helps land a job as a bookkeeper or prepare a student to become an accountant. In both of these classes Mrs. Law wants her students to do quality work and learn to take pride in their work and abilities.

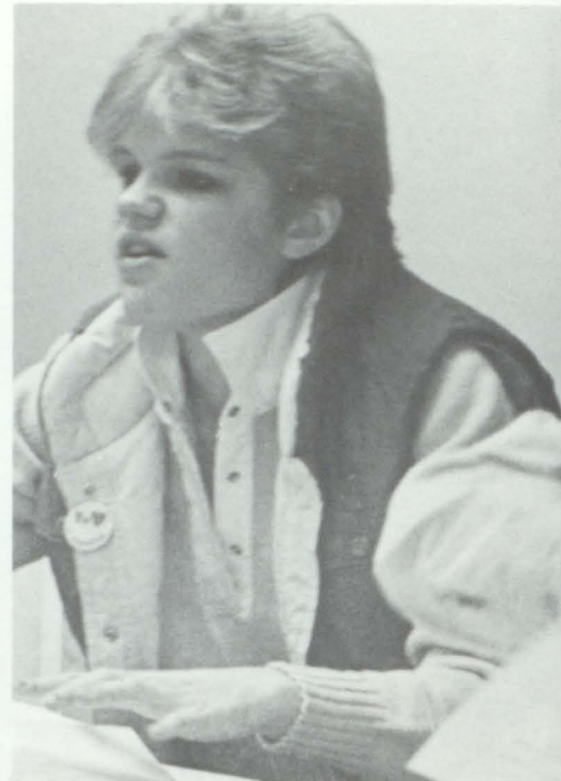

Consumer Education is also an important class. This class helps students deal with life and health insurance. Students also learn about investments. In Consumer Education Mr. Korth wants his students to challenge themselves to the utmost.

Home Economics

The Home Economics department had three major goals this year: First, to help students be aware of what they can do for themselves to be healthy. Second, to attempt to have students see the correlation between their classes and how they blend together to make the students well prepared adults. Third, to have the students realize the importance of good health- physically and mentally.

Home Economics deals with basic needs of all human beings. Our classes try to touch on the life skills that students use now and will continue to use throughout their adult life. Home Economics offers more than cooking and sewing skills because in our rapidly changing society more skills are needed. Communication in families, being a wise consumer choosing foods to prevent illness, saving energy in the home and being a good parent are just a few of the topics discussed in Home Economics.

For a small school our Library is excellent. Each year 5,000 to 6,000 books are checked out by students for personal reading or as sources of information for class assignments. In addition to all the books in our Library, Ms. Moe can get other books through the Interlibrary Exchange for students in need.

This year two changes occurred in our Library. Two computer card catalogs were added to help students learn to help themselves. A computerized circulation system was also added to help Ms. Moe and Mrs. Phillips keep the library in order. Four hundred new books were also added this year for the enjoyment of the students.

Every year the library has the same problem with over due books. Students don't return their library books quickly because there are no fines or restrictions. Ms. Moe wants students to keep books as long as they need them but, she also wants students to keep in mind other students who might need the same book.

The high school government and history classes covered a variety of subjects this year, each one individually important to our lives.

MRS. NAYLOR wanted her students to gain a better understanding of government beyond Idaho Springs and Denver. Toward this end she provided more class time for discussion about government, thus sparking curiosity.

Western Civilization was taught by MR. BYRNE, who was new to our school this year. He feels history is important to our lives, in order that we learn from the mistakes of our ancestors and gain some perspective as to where we are heading in the future.

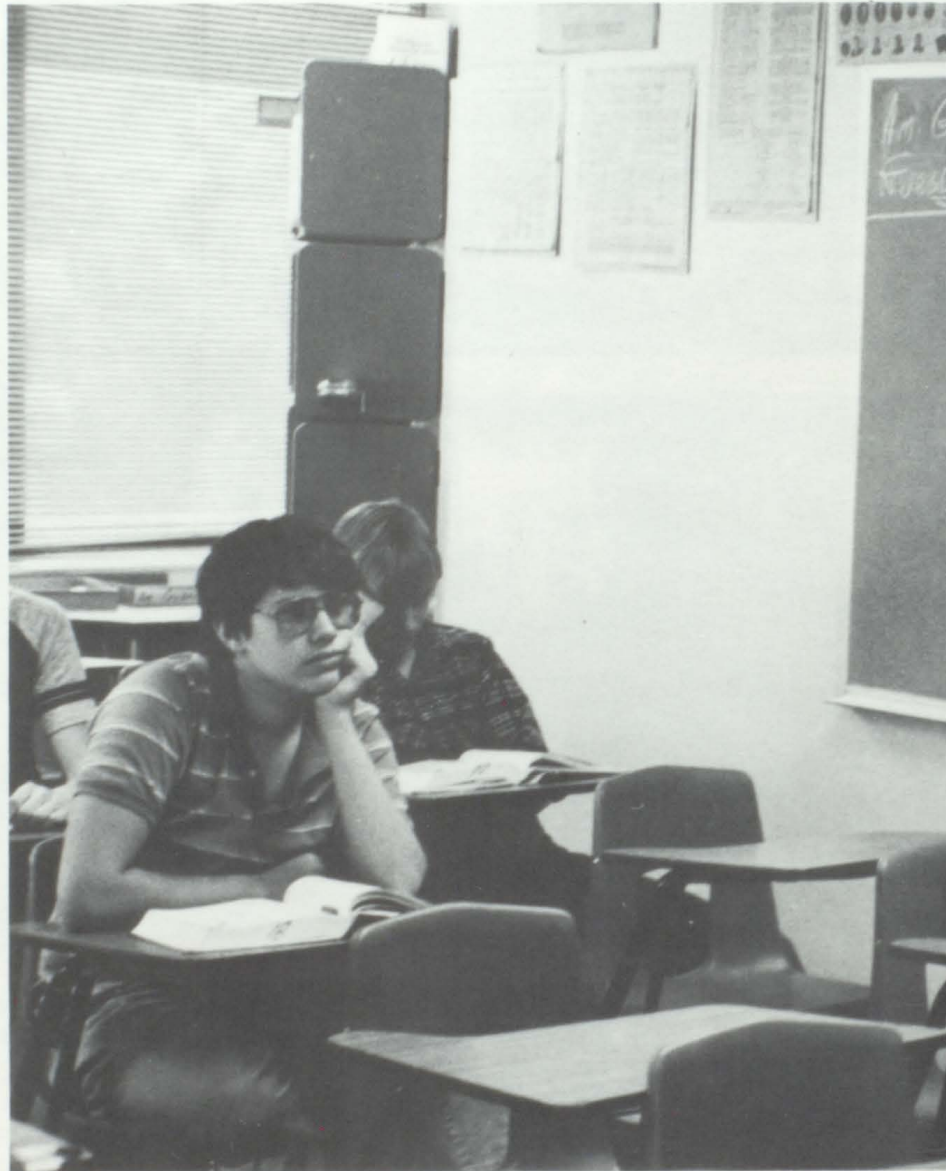

MR. WARMACK stressed practical, everyday skills such as decision making, problem solving and recognizing trends and patterns. He was also busy making plans for a student trip to historic Boston.

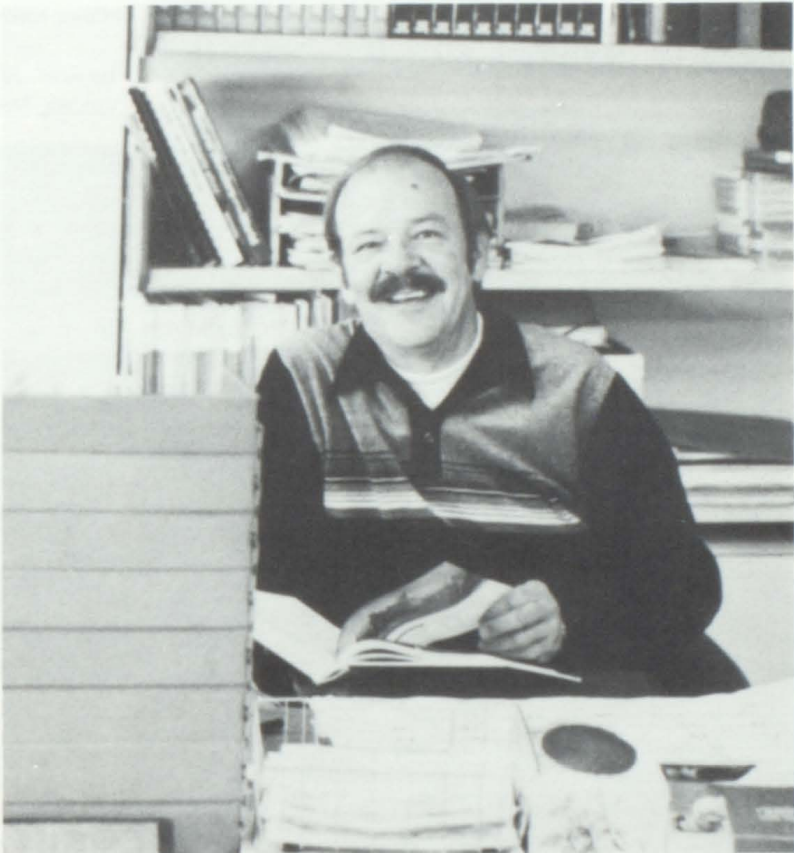

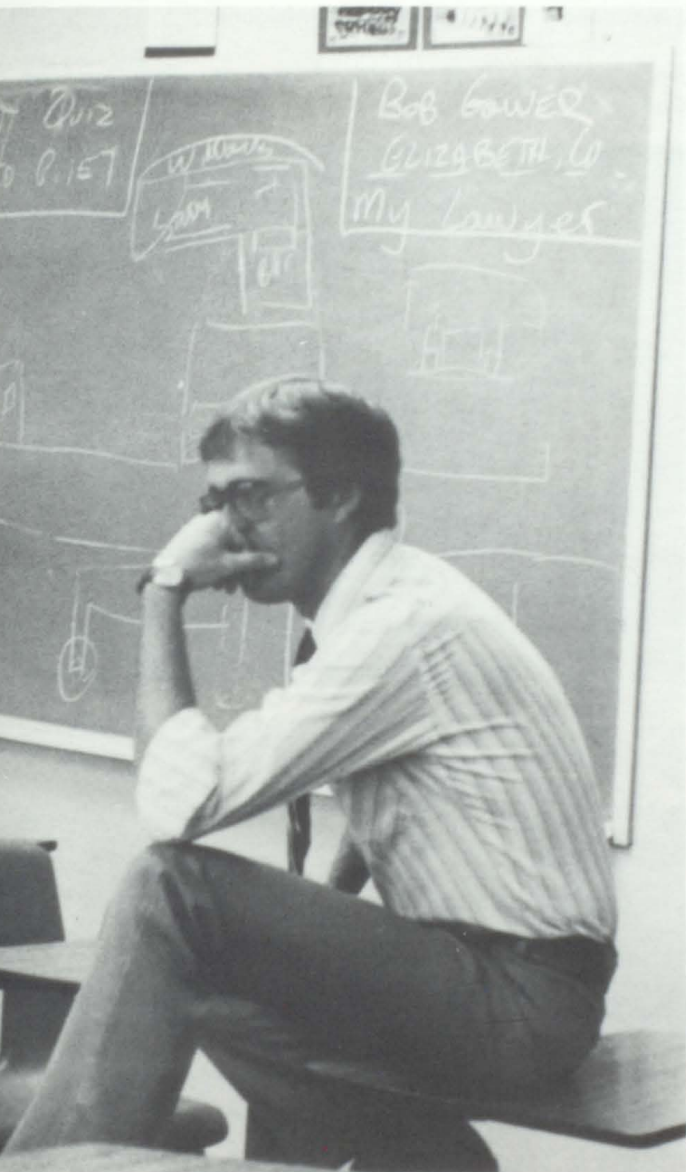

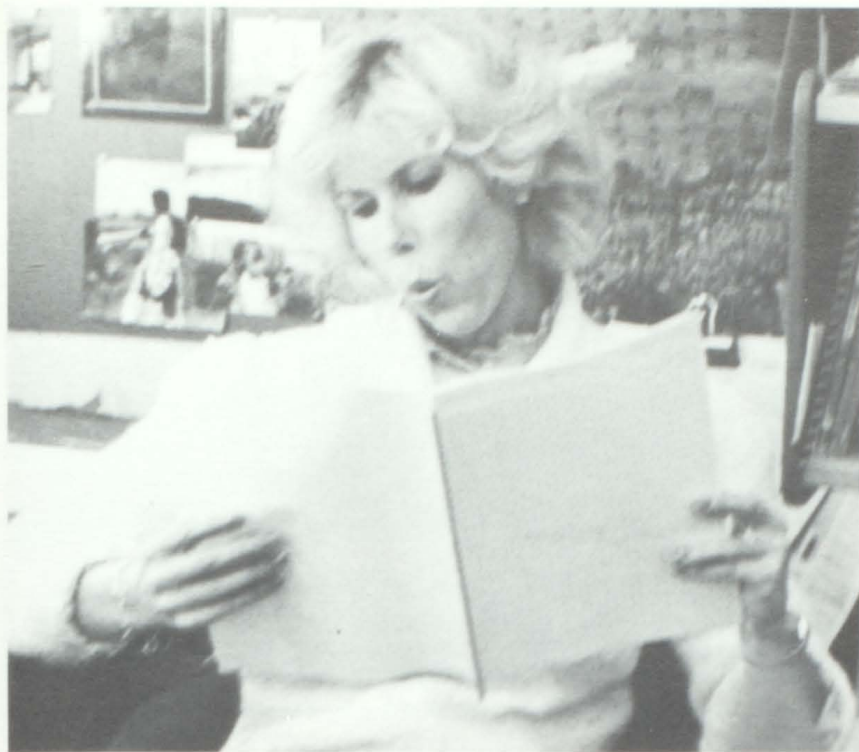

In the middle school the students concentrated on world geography and U.S. History. MR. DICKINSON, along with the other middle school social studies teachers, focused on in-depth studies of diverse countries around the world.

Band

"Band is a way of expressing feelings and emotions through the organization of sounds created by an individual," says MR. RICK ARGOTSINGER.

Some of Mr. Argotsinger's goals were to create a positive climate for learning and performing, to nurture and support the development of pride and self-confidence, to help improve desire by actively participating in the various band activities.

In addition to three concert bands and two jazz ensembles, the music department also featured flute, clarinet and brass quartets. All these groups performed throughout the year in various concerts and the state solo and ensemble contests.

The same ideas— self-discipline, cooperation among peers, desire for improvement, pride, self-confidence and initiative — were stressed in all band classes, as they are all needed for each student to express himself to the fullest.

CHOIR

Choir gives students the chance to explore their talents and to express themselves through music. Being involved in music adds another dimension to the well rounded student. Choir also gives students an opportunity to interact with other students in a more relaxed environment.

MISS MARSHALL'S goals for her classes were to help each choir and each student reach their potential musically, to become a group that works, sings, laughs and achieves success together. In addition she aimed for every student to leave her class with a stronger knowledge and appreciation of music, and for everyone to know they can be successful if they set their sights on a goal and work hard to achieve it.

P.E.

Physical Education classes were fun as well as educational this past year. Students played games while learning to play the correct way.

A variety of sports, including basketball, volleyball, speedway, football, badminton and bowling were taught by MRS. JEANNE OTSUKI, MR. SKIP BENNET and MRS. SHELLY DONAHUE.

Because of Mr. Fraley's absence due to sabbatical leave, high school boys were treated to MRS. DONAHUE'S weight lifting class, a change from the more traditional P.E. offerings.

Some other new activities, such as pickle ball, team handball, and jump rope for aerobic conditioning, were added to the curriculum. Not all these activities were offered in all classes, but each physical education class participated in at least one of them.

Physical fitness was stressed, along with using correct and proper skills and strategies.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES SPECIAL EDUCATION

Learning a foreign language requires discipline to handle the frustration of not understanding every word and not being able to express oneself exactly. In the long run the rewards of being able to communicate in a foreign language outweigh the frustration that a student may experience.

MRS. LOPEZ and MRS. NAGY are both striving to achieve the same goals: encouraging the development of study skills such as memorization, helping students become aware of cultural diversities and appreciating them, teaching grammar and increasing the students' opportunities for more interesting jobs.

Students must work hard to learn a foreign language. They need to be responsible for themselves, maintain positive attitudes toward learning and always strive to improve.

One of the fun aspects of the department is Foreign Language Day at the school district camp. The second, third and fourth year students attended the camp, participating in competitions in the morning. In the afternoon the older students sponsored a carnival for the first year language classes, for both fun and profit.

The special education classes in our school are extremely important for the students who have learning disabilities.

The P.C. lab focuses on helping students to learn proper study skills and also to give special attention to those areas in which students may be weak or need special help.

MRS. WEBSTER stressed many areas in her classroom in an effort to bring students up to their academic abilities. These areas included using the dictionary, managing one's time, completing assignments on time, using correct spelling, grammar, punctuation and capitalization.

All the teachers and aids help the students feel good about themselves when they achieve a goal.

English

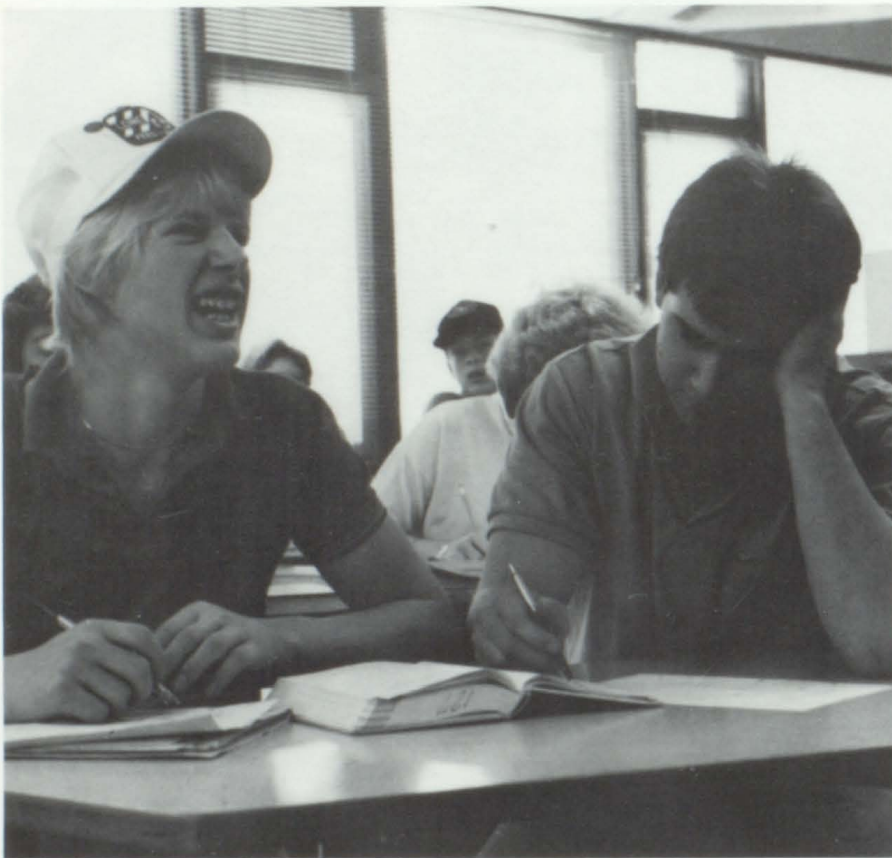

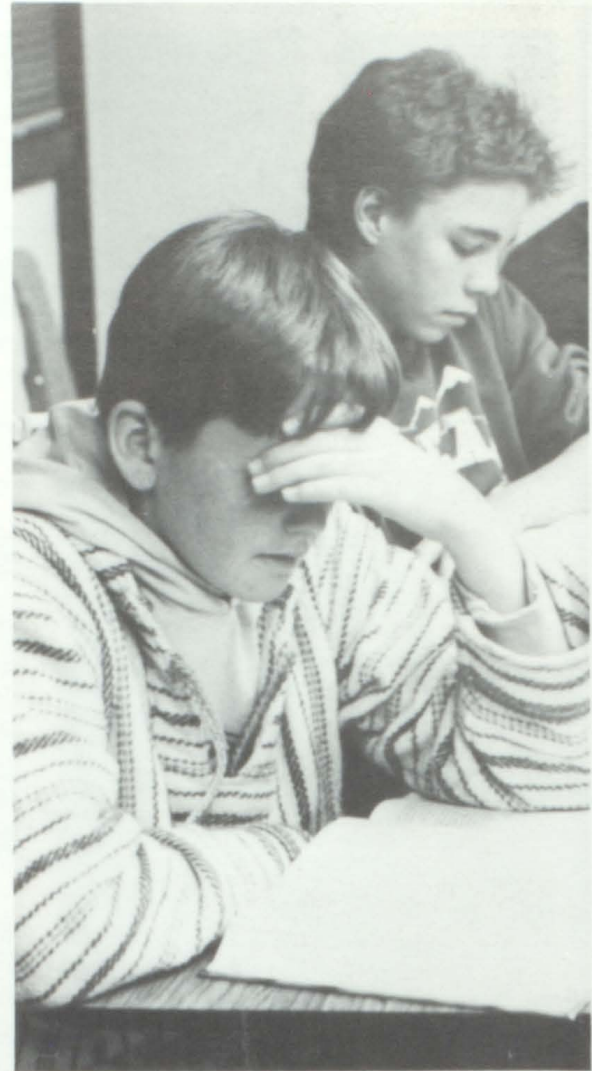

At all levels of English the same things were emphasized: literature, to nurture the students spirit; writing to help students communicate; grammar, to help students understand the fundamentals of the English language.

This year in Middle School there has been a teacher change. MRS. KRUGER and MRS. FLENNIKEN now share the position previously held by MRS. FOWLER, who became the elementary school principal last fall.

Sophomores this year, were introduced to college entrance exams, which will help students learn what will be required of them by the colleges.

MR. DALLAS wanted his students to suffer now and not in college. Another important point stressed in Junior and Senior English was choosing the college. All these things will help the students enjoy an easier college life.
